Detailed description: This image shows the first 82 measures of Franz Schubert's 'The Bird Song' in D major, 4/4 time. The score is written for a single melodic line on a grand staff. It begins with a tempo marking of 120 beats per minute. The melody is characterized by frequent trills, often marked with a 'tr' and a wavy line. There are several triplet markings (indicated by a '3' over a bracket) at measures 35, 68, and 82. The piece includes a section of 'rit. allargando' (ritardando and allargando) starting at measure 75, where the tempo slows down. The score ends at measure 82 with a final triplet and a trill. The key signature has one sharp (F#) and the time signature is 4/4.
